for $6,750 - Statement of the Finances. The metropolis surrendered itself to the wheelmen of America yesterday, and everybody had something nice to say about the great sport of bicycling. The Grand Union Hotel, where the League of American Wheelmen held their fourcenth annual meeting, was simply jammed with delegates from all parts of the United States, ana enthusiasts who stood around in groups discussing the various topics with interest. In all. there were ninety-four delegates on the scene of action, and what they didn't know about the

But the Jerseymen had considerable up their sleeves, for when the question was put a vote, it was found that Boston wasn't in it. The election of officers was also important, and the ones chosen are regarded as fully able to deal with the various questions of moment that confront them from time to time during their term of office. The report of President Luscomb was a resume of the work of the league during his term of office. He spoke of the fact that when the officials took charge of the affairs of the league last year, the L. A. W. and no money to pay outstanding decir, but that during the last twelve months of office all obligations had been discharged. He also stated that the duties of the office consumed half a day's business hours. The assembly took a recess at 1 o'clock. They resumed business again at 2 o'clock. and the first thing done was the election of new officers. Archibald C. Willison of Cumberland, Md., was manimously elected President. George Perkins of Hoston was elected First Vice-President. Two candidates were in the field for the Second Vice-Presidency, A. A. Billingsby of Springfield, Ilia, and A. C. Morrison of Milwankee. The latter was a late candidate, but defeated Billingsby by a vote of 95 to 47. A. E. Mergenthaler of Oliso was elected Treasurer without opposition. After the election of officers the first outsiness transacted was the settlement of the question of the national meet. In behalf of Asbury Park Mesers, Gentle, Holmes, Parsons, Kerr, and Connoily made addresses. Connoily made the best speech, and, in fact, his address had such a telling effect that it is said to have influenced many votes for Asbury Park. with 81 votes to 63 for Boston. The selection of Asbury Park was popular.

The motion of thief Consul Elliott of Massachusetts to add "and to promote and regulate cycling racing on the track" was added to the rules reliating to the objects of the league. While the L. A. W. has always governed racing, it has hever contained a clause in its constitution attenting to that fact.

Chief Consul Jacquist of Illinois withdrew his amendment to admit colored wheelmen, so that no action was taken upon the matter.

An auditing committee, consisting of Messrs.

J. F. Adams, Boston: Jehn Van Nort, Philadelphia, and G. R. Pront, Ohio, was appointed to examine the league books semi-annually.

The assembly voted unfavorably upon the motion to open the league membership to persons interested in the objects of the league but not wheelmen.

A. C. Willison, the newly elected President, interested in the objects of the league but not owneedmen.

A. C. Willison, the newly elected President, took the chair at the evening session. The membership question consumed considerable time for debate. The fact that the league has leat 10,000 members has resulted in bringing to the attention of the league officials the additional fact that immediate steps must be taken to rebuild the organization. The amendment introduced by Sterling Elliott relating to renewals of membership was accepted as follows:

A member may renew his membership at any time within sixe days from the date of the expiration by the payment of the annual dues of $1. It be shall postpone the payment of his dues beyond the sixty days, he shall pay in addition to the annual dues of $1 the sum of threen cents for every month or fraction of a month that he is in arrears.

An amendment to the constitution relating to the status of Consuls was adopted as follows:

See, 5. The status of every consulate, sub-division, and division shall be faced annually on the first day of factorer, and shall be leased on the membership enrolled on the books of the league on that date.

The Massachusetts men were so confident of ecciving the award for the national meet that receiving the award for a royal entertainment at they had provided for a royal entertainment at the termination of the afternoon session to cele-brate their victory. The New Jersey contingent took possession of the Massachusetts headquarrate their victory, or the Massachusetts headquar-son possession of the Massachusetts headquar-ers, and helped to consume the good cheer pro-ided to celebrate their defeat. The New Jersey lelegates then procured a colored chap with a ulitar and had quite a reception in their own guitar and had quite a reception in their own headquarters.

Prominent members of the Massachusetts division in discussing their failure to secure the meet expressed intense regret at their defeat, but they said that they would aid the New Jersey division all in their power to make the meet at Asbury Park a big success.

The amendments proposed by Chairman Raymond came up during the evening, but action upon them was postponed until to-day. The subject of the league's financial standing and its loss of membership was discussed very fully. The delegates find, it is said, that the system now in vogue can be improved, and steps will be taken by the new officers to establish another system.

Charles H. Luscomb, before retiring from office, announced that suit had been entered against the L. A. W. by I. B. Potter of Brooking for the sum of $3,750. Mr. Potter is Chief Consul of the New York State division, and sues the national body upon a chaim for salary alleged to be due on a contract with the L. A. W. for the management of the good roads department, which is unpaid. Chieff ousui Gentle of the New Jersey division states that a meeting will be held in Asbury Park on Feb. 22 to arrange for the national meet. Chairman Raymond, in his report, announced that the Racing Board have planned to refuse sanctions for races to all cluss who exaggerate the value of their prizes. Many of the wheelmen are in New York, but those who did not go there to look after the interests of the town have now donned the club colors and are thoroughly jubilant over the victory for which they fought so hard. The Asbury Park Wheelmen are just finishing an elegant new club house on Bangs avenue, where a fair will open on Wednesday night to raise money toward furnishing the building.

COLONIA SAID TO HAVE BEEN

By the Vanderbilt-Morgan-Isella Syndicate tor Use as a Training Ship,

It was learned on good authority yesterday that the Vanderbilt-Morgan-Iselin syndicate had at last secured control of the ex-cup defender Colonia, and that they will use her as a training ship for the crew of the new cup de-fender during the month of May, while they are waiting for the new Herreshoff flyer to be fitted cut. Afterward she will be used as a sort of rial horse to test the speed of the new cup defender.

The Colonia, it will be remembered, was the first of the Palcup defenders ordered. She is a steel craft designed by the Herreshoffs, and was built for a syndicate of patriotic yachtsmen composed of Archibaid Rogers, John E. Brooks, J. Pierpont Morgan, F. Augustus Schermerhorn, and W. E. Vanderbilt, the head of the new syndicate.

In their flight five of the birds were dropped and were secured by Constable Gould. No arrests were made.

The National Steeplechase Association Incorporated.

ALBANY, Feb. 18.-The National Steeplechase Association was incorporated to-day for the purpose of investigating, ascertaining, and keeping a record of the pedigrees of horses; the instituting, maintaining, controlling, and publishing of a stud book or book of registry of horses in the United States; the promoting and holding of exhibitions of such horses, that all the railroads would accede to this demand in the near future.

The report of Howard E. Raymond, the Chairman of the Racing bloard, dealt with the raving situation very extensively. He spoke in glowing terms of the success of the two-class system, his Howard being confident that the aport had been greatly been fitted by its adoption. During last year 250 men were placed in class H and 237 men such races; by compiling, publishing and advancing steeplechasing and hurdle racing throughout the third States; by supervisations for the season, of which 238 were for events run on July 4, 70 on Decoration Day, and 80 on Labor Day. and advancing steeplechasing and hurdle racing throughout the United States; by supervising such races; by compiling publishing and enforcing proper rules to govern such racing; by licensing of meetings, of trainers, and of jockeys, and the first annual meeting of the association will be held on Jan. 9, 1804. The directors are: August Belmont, Hempstead, L. I.: H. De Conrey Forbes, New York city; Samuel S. Howland, Groveland, Livingston county, N. J. James O. Green, Louisville; Frederick Gebhard, Eatonville, N. J.: Andrew J. Cassatt, Haverfood, Pa.; Foxhail P. Keene, Bayside, N. Y.; John G. Follansbee, San Francisco, and Frederick H. Prince, Boston.

THE HORSE AND CARRIAGE TRADE.

A Handsome Spring Nevelty Shown by Mc Longhila & Co.-Coming Stores Sales, Now that the backbone of winter appears to be broken there are signs of a speedy revival in the horse and carriage trade. Last Sunday's bright sunshine brought out a host of new spring turnouts in Central Park, and with the eturn of seasonable weather the dealers in fine horses and carriages begin to report inquiries and sales.

Some of the new things in Park turnouts which the fashionable carriage builders have designed for the coming season are among the handsomest that metropolitan riders and drivers have yet seen. Perhaps the richest and finest of the spring novelties is the phaeton Français which has just been placed on exhibition in the showrooms of H. McLoughlin & Co., Broadway and Fifty-first street. The design is the work of Mr. McLoughlin himself, and is an adaptation and modification of the French vehicle with some of the features of the English stanhope and a number of new and novel lines. It is a four-wheeled affair, heavily geared like a mail phaston, with four elliptical aprings. In color it is a deep blue except the body panel, mouldings, and the platform, all of which are black. Al-together the effect is rich, elegant, and consplcu-ous without being gaudy or gay. McLoughlin & Co. have a great many handsome traps on hand ous without being gaudy or gay. McLoughlin & Co, have a great many handsome traps on hand at present.

The New York Coach Horse and Cob Company is preparing to make a fine exhibition of Park turnouts in all the harness classes at the Duriand Horse Show next month. C. F. Bates, the President of the concern, says he has just secured a perfect mate for his noted all-round show horse Cadet. The latter and mate will be shown in the lead, with Commander and Cardinal in the wheel, making a four marked and colored all alike, bays with white feet and white faces, Mr. Bates has a new tandem wheeler in the trotting horse Billy the Prophet, and he expects to show him with Cadet in the lead. Either horse, it is claimed, can beat 2:40 to a roud wagon, and they are both descendants of the noted trotting sire George Wilkes. The New York Coach Horse and Cob Company is probably the largest concern in America dealing exclusively in high-steppers and harness horses for fine driving, having on hand at the city stables in New York and at the schooling farm in Ohio nearly 200 animals the year round, all of which, except a few extra large coach horses, are trotting bred, and many of them are standard and registeered horses.

Van Tassell & Kearney will sell to-day a nota-

Orace.

Van Tassell & Kearney will sell to-day a notale collection of harness horses, fancy trans, and other driving paraphernalia belonging to the estate of the late Charles A. Baudoune of this city. Among the horses are six prize winners at the National Horse Show and other prominent exhibitions. On March 5 Van Tasseli & Kearney will have a public sale of trotting stock at their extensive establishment in East Thirteenth street. The horses come from the Forest Park stock farm of H. R. C. Watson at Brandon, Vt., and they include many fashionably bred, speedy roadsters of the Wilkes and Electioneer families. Tattersalls sale of trotting stock next week will have a number of attractions in harness horses which ought to bring about spirited competition among bidders. One of the consignments is the noted pole team Evangeline and Lunette, owned by the Hon. Charles M. Reed of Erie, Pa. The mares have trotted to pole in 2:184e in private, and Mr. Reed once drove them nearly eighteen miles in an hour over the common country roads in Pennsylvania. Another notable sale will be that of the stallion St. Vincent, 2:134e, who was one of the most pounient trotters in the Western-Southern Circuit in 1892. He was then in the stable of M. E. Mc-Henry.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 18.—Gwynne R. He visited the representatives of the Oakley. Latonia, and Louisville race tracks, and they all Latonia, and Louisville race tracks, and they all were in favor of admitting the Old Dominion Club into the Congress. He also had an interview with President Moffat for the Western Turf Congress, who also favored taking his club into their fold. President Moffat has authorized Secretary Hopper to have a vote taken on the matter by mail.

The Old Dominion's meeting, which was to have opened up on March 1, may not open until the 4th, although the time has not been decoded on yet; it may not open until the second week in March. The track is now in excellent shape with the exception of the first turn, which is quite heavy, owing to the large amount of snow which was piled there by the force of the wind during the late storm. Superintendent Stranhan has his men out on the track every day, and when the meeting opens the track is expected to be in first-class condition.

In case the Old Dominion Club decide not to begin until the St. Asaph track opens, the Baltimore Jockey Club will take the dates, and instead of stopping Thursday week will continue until either of the tracks in Virginia open.

THIS TIME HE BRATS L. T. DAVEN. PORT BY A SINGLE BIRD.

Both Men Give a Wonderful Exhibition of One-Handed Shooting, and Each Breaks the Record - With Two Hands Barenport Leads the Carteret Gun Club Expert a Bird - Afterward the Gien Core Man Beat Br. Wynn in a Fifty Bird Match.

The result of last Friday's one and two-handed pigeon-shooting match at Larchmont between George Work and L. T. Davenport apparently was not satisfactory to the Glen Cove expert, for he challenged Work to a return match under similar conditions, which was shot on the same grounds yesterday:

After an exciting contest Work won by a score of 90 to 89, killing 44 with one hand and 46 with two. Davenport despatched 42 single handed and 47 with two hands. At single-handed shooting both men broke the record, and it is doubtful if Work's score of 44 will ever be equalled under similar conditions. Davenport again had hard luck in the way his birds fell dead out of bounds, no less than four being scored against him in the first half and two in the second.

Outside of the fact that the birds were a lively lot, everything else favored the shooters, as hardly a breath of air stirred the red danger flags or the club's blue and white pennant. which bung lifeless against the flagstaff the day. In spits of the snow-clad field, the light was very good, owing to the melting ice and snow, which caused a bluish haze to rise from the marsh beyond and formed a good background for the shooters.

Davenport, who lost the toss, was the first shoot. He had little difficulty in killing his bird with one barrel. Work responded by a pretty with one barrel. Work responded by a pretty kill with his second barrel of a fast incomer. Both men killed straight up to the fourth round, when Davenport's hard luck began. A fast right-quartering driver died just over the boundary. He followed this up by missing his next bird, a towering driver, clean. Work also lost his fourth bird, a right quartering driver, shooting under the bird with both barrels. However, he more than made up for the miss on his following bird, which he killed with a beautifully timed second barrel. He failed to kill his next bird in the sixth round, a fast left quarterer, and the match was again a tie. From here on both men killed until the ninth round, when Davenport's bird, although hit hard with the second barrel, died outside of buinds. He stopped the next bird, a fast right quarterer, with a beautifully timed second barrel. Work made a fine kill of a low twisting driver in the thirteenth round, but missed a lively white left quarterer at his next attempt. Davenport responded with a pretty kill of a puzzling white driver, which fell before a good second barrel.

port responded with a pretty kill of a puzzling white driver, which fell before a good second barrel.

Work's twentieth bird, a low quartering driver, was a marvellous kill in its way, as was his execution of the twenty-first bird, a towering right quarterer, Davenport also killed a hard left quarterer with his first barrel in the twenty-third round, while Work responded by stopping a blue demon, which circled all around the traps.

At the end of the twenty-fifth round the score was a tie, each having killed 22 birds. Work, however, took the lead in the next round, through Davenport's clean miss of a fast right-quartering driver, which escaped untouched. Work caught a lightning right quarterer, which he killed with a first. He lost his thirtieth bird, a fast left quarterer, which just managed to flutter over the boundary. He made up for it by a hard kill in the thirty-second round, the bird being a straight drive, and some seventy yards away.

Davenour's hard luck got in its work again by a hard kill in the thirty-second round, the bird being a straight drive, and some seventy yards away.

Davenport's hard luck got in its work again in the thirty-fourth round, a twisting left quarterer dropping dead in the snow just over the dead line. He also scored another zero by missing his thirty-minth bird, a left-quartering incomer. He made a good kill of a low driver in the following round, while Work missed a rather puzzling right quarterer in the forty-first round. Davenport captured his forty-second bird, a fast right; quarterer, with a rattling good second barrel, which Work duplicated with a one-barrel kill in his half of the round. Davenport's forty-seventh bird, a right quarter, died outside of bounds, while his forty-eighth, a driver, got clear with the loss of a few feathers. Work, in the mean time, killed straight up to his last bird, single handed, when he missed a fast left quarterer clean. This gave Work a lead, he having killed 4 to Davenport's 42.

At two handest shooting both men killed

Davenport's 42.

At two-handed shooting both men killed straight up to the ninth round, when Davenport's bird, a driver, though hard hit, died outside of bounds, as did his twelfth bird, a fast left quarterer. Work killed straight up to the twenty-seventh round, when a driver twisted to the left and managed to exame the leaden peltwenty-seventh round, when a driver twisted to the left and managed to escape the leaden pelets. From the twenty-third round up to the twenty-ninth round Davenport caught nothing but drivers. He managed, however, to kill straight until the thirty-seventh round, when he lost a towever through poor timing. Work lost his thirty-second bird, a straight driver; the thirty-seventh, a twisting olue driver, and his forty-sixth, another straight driver. The score in this half was: lawenport, 47: Work, 48. As Work had a lead of two, single-handed, he won the match by a single bird. Summary:

LONDON A. C. HEARD FROM. Date and Torms of Match with the New

Members of the New York A. C. Athletic Committee had reason to plume themselves on their enterprise yesterday when a message hummed over the cable which practically ratifies the proposed track and field tournament between the London and New York Athletic clubs. A letter with full details is expected in to-day's mail, but in the mean time the promoters gather much consolation from the apparent sincerity and straightforwardness of the English officials. The full text of the official cable received by Secretary Gulick, New York A. C., from H. K. Holman, honorary Secretary of the London A.

C., is as follows:

LOSDON, Feb. 18. Mr. H. K. Holman, the Honorary Secretary of the London Athletic Club, has sent a response to the letter written to him on the 15th of January by Mr. John C Gulick, Secretary of the New York A. C., in regard to the contemplated contest in New York between representatives of the New York and London clubs. Mr. Holman's letter, which is dated Feb. 9, agrees upon Sept. 21, the date fixed by the New York A. C. for the contest. But he suggests that, if it be found necessary, an arrangement be made by which the date could be changed to either a week earlier or a week later. He agrees that a 220-yard flat rac be added to the programme, and proposes to Holman's letter save that the team that will be sent to America will probably be composed o C. A. Bradley, C. B. Fry, G. Shaw, A. R. Downer, W. J. M. Barry, E. C. Breedin, W. E. Lutyens, F. S. Horan, A. R. Williams, and A. Onenden. Mr. Holman further says: "I wish to point out, in order to forestall argument on the sub-ject, that Bradley, although a duly elected member of the London Athletic Club, has but re-cently joined it, and has done so, I believe, expressly for the purpose of taking part in this ompetition. Fry was nominated for election elected members at a committee meeting held last Wednesday evening. The whole team will elected members at a committee meeting held last Wednesday evening. The whole team will thus be composed of fully qualified paying members of the club. I think that it is only right that you should be in possession of all the facts."

The letter then proceeds to say that the Honorary Secretary will accompany the team. He will be invested with full power to alter or annul present arrangements or to enter into new ones. The letter also says:

"We hear rumors that the hammer might be metamorphosed into a leaden weight, to be slung by a steel wire from a crossbar handle. We hope that no such radical change is contemplated, and must put in a plea for an iron head with a wooden haft, which has been used for furnishing records for years past."

In regard to the question of the expenses of the contest, Mr. Hoiman accepts the offer of the New York Athletic Club to pay the expenses of a team and substitutes, not to exceed fifteen in number, from London to New York and return. He explains in regard to the suggestion of Mr. Gulick that a subscription be taken up in England for defraying the expenses of the London Club, that he is unable to formulate a plan to relieve the New York A. C. in this respect, as the idea of a public subscription does not find favor here. It is probable also that some members of the London Club would decline to go to New York on the latter terms. Mr. Hoiman also says that in the event of a return visit from the team of the New York A. C., which he hopes to arrange, the assistance of others outside the club could be more properly and successfully enlisted if no subscription was taken up now.

As soon as the promised letter is received a meeting of the N. Y. A. C. Athletic Committee will be called to adjust the few technical preliminaries not already disposed of. It will be seen that there is a stight difference of opinion as to what the hammer should consist of. The A. A. U. rule says:

"The head and handle may be of any size, shape, and material, provided that the length of the complete implement pounds."

The English rule stipulates that the head shall be of iron and spherical and the handle shall be of wood. The head and handle shall weigh together sixteen pounds.

be of iron and spherical and the handle shall be of wood. The head and handle shall weigh together sixteen pounds.

Jem Mitchell, the American champion and holder of the world's record, thinks the wire handle of little advantage except from an economic standpoint. He admits however, that a lead head should travel a trifle further than an iron one. It was with a light wooden "whip" handle Mitchell made the existing world's record from a seven-foot circle. The English rule allows a nine-foot circle, or that there is room for concession on each side.

If the L.A. C. team keeps on growing as it has done since the match was first mentioned, it bromises to be a representative national combination. The ten men mentioned in Secretary Holman's cable have the following credentials: Bradley, Fredin, Shaw, Barry, and Williams are is amateur champions at their specialties: Downer is amateur champions at their specialties: Downer inter-varsity champions, Fry is joint holder of the world's record for broad jumping, and Ovenden is a sprinter whoranks in almost the same class as Bradley and Downer. The high jumper, although a champion, is not first-class, but the N. Y. A. C. is also weak in this respect, as well as in distance running. Unless the precedent set up in Bradley's case is freely copied here, the chances of the visitors are decidedly rosy.

THE DOG SHOW HERE

Such a yelping and a yelling, to say nothing of barks, growis, whimpers, and howis, as filled the Madison Square Garden last night convinced every one within ten blocks of the place that the Dog Show was in town. This morning at 9 o'clock the Westminster Kennel Club's nineteenth annual bench show will open in the Garden, and from then until 11 o'clock on Friday night the auditorium of the Garden will be turned into an immense kennel.

As has already been stated in THE SUN, some 1,600 dogs will be on exhibition, and during the four days of the show something like $15,000 in prizes and premiums will be distributed. Out of this vast amount of money, which is given for the improvement in the breed of dogs, the Westminster Kennel Club contributes $10,000, while the remaining $5,000 is offered in specials by dog lovers from all over the country. While the usual long line of wire pens will great the visitor again, a number of changes and improvements have been made, notably the placing of a number of clevated kennels in the gallery on the Twenty-sixth street side of the Garden for the special use of pet dogs. There the ladies will have a change to see and fondle the pug, the graceful Italian greshound, and the beautiful Japanese and Bienheim and King Charles spaniels without coming in contact with the crowd below. Another improvement has been made by placing six, instead of the usual two rings in the centre of the Garden. This will facilitate the judging, and will enable the handlers to show their dogs to better advantage. The strongest classes this year are the St. Bernards, fox terriers, pointers, English and Irish setters, spaniels, buildogs, collies, and Scotch, Irish, and built terriers.

As usual, New Yorkers contribute the greatest number of entries, though Boston, Philadelphia, and Canada press her hard for first honors. In point of value the St. Bernards and collies undoubtedly represent the greatest amount of money, though it would take almost the gold reserve to duplicate the pointers, setters, buils. Russian wolfhounds, and greyhounds which will be shown.

Commencing this evening, Prof. Wormwood's trained dogs will give an exhibition in the Garden from 9 to 10 o'clock. Afterward they will give two exhibitions a day, one in the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and the other in the evening at 9 o'clock.

While nearly a third of the exhibits had for the improvement in the breed of dogs, the Westminster Kennel Club contributes $10,000.

at 3:30 o'clock and the other in the evening at 9 o'clock.

While nearly a third of the exhibits had arrived at 8 o'clock last evening, nearly a thousand more will be received and benched before the show opens at 9 o'clock this morning.

CAL M'CARTHY'S WEAK FIGHTING. The Ex-Champion Peatherweight Just Manages to Make a Draw. The big barn-like structure known as Oakland Rink, located on Jersey City Heights, was last night filled with a gathering of lovers of the manly art. The occasion was the contests arranged by the Pastime A. C. The leading attraction was a bout of ten rounds between Cal, McCarthy, the ex-champion featherweight, and Joe Craig, a shifty, clever, and hard-hitting local pugilist of the same class, and hard-hitting local pugilist of the same class. The eyent was virtually to decide the 122-pound chambionship of New Jersey.

During the first three rounds very little fighting was done, but McCarthy seemed to be the more aggressive. The pair warmed up to their work in the next two rounds, with the honors about even. It was apparent, however, that McCarthy was not up to his old form, for, although he landed quite often on Craig's ribs and stomach, the blows did not seem to have much effect. Craig gained the advantage in the sixth and seventh rounds, knocking McCarthy down in the latter with a left-hand jab immediately after they broke from a clinch. Had it not been for the referce a foul seemed imminent on the part of Craig, he having lost control of himself and was about to strike McCarthy before the latter regained his feet. The result was a draw.
